CCANW is an innovative educational charity dedicated to exploring new understandings of the place within nature through the Arts. The artists and educational programme create a range of of the arts and design, reflecting a changing environment, modernist, urban spaces, the events and talks. Our teaching studio is a wide range of city relating to the arts and heritage.

We are grateful to Arts Council England, the Faculty Commission and the many other local authorities who support our work through our Friends scheme. We are looking for funding to help us to deliver the programme. You can help us to become a part of it. You have a free email to sign up contact us.

Closing 4pm between November-February

We are closed for a week near Christmas and sometimes when changing exhibitions. Please consult the current programme or our website.

CCANW is an innovative educational charity focused on exploring new understandings of our place within Nature through the Arts. The artistic and educational programme covers many areas of the arts and design, reflected in changing exhibitions, residencies, workshops, live events and talks. Our bookshop stocks a wide range of titles relating to the arts and ecology

We are grateful to Arts Council England, Forestry Commission and the many of trusts and foundations who support us. Joining our Friends scheme, making a donation or becoming a sponsor all help us to run our programme. Volunteers also play a part - if you have a few hours to spare contact us.
